

About the Authors

---

Matthew M. Brohm is a partner at Arnall Golden Gregory LLP in Atlanta, Georgia. Matthew's work focuses on corporate transactions in the health care industry, where he has advised on transactions involving private equity firms, health systems, hospitals, nursing homes, assisted living facilities, home health agencies, behavioral health companies, physician practice management platforms, laboratories, pharmacies, and a wide variety of other providers. Matthew also co-wrote a chapter in AHLA's Corporate Practice of Medicine: A 50 State Survey. He has been recognized by Chambers USA, Georgia Super Lawyers, and Best Lawyers in America. Matthew attended the University of Georgia and Syracuse University College of Law.

Stacey L. Callaghan is an attorney at McDermott Will & Emery in Chicago, Illinois. Stacey's work focuses on assisting clients with digital health matters, including data privacy and protection and developing telemedicine strategies. She also routinely guides clients through transactions. She has been recognized by The Best Lawyers—Ones to Watch and Super Lawyers—Rising Stars. Stacey attended Notre Dame Law School where she graduated cum laude. Outside of work, Stacey loves traveling with her husband, Joe, and spending time with their mini cockapoo, Rossi.

Matthew Cin is an attorney at Ropes & Gray LLP in Chicago, Illinois. He advises a broad range of clients on global privacy and cybersecurity issues, and on technology transactions and other commercial contracts. Matthew represents technology companies, cloud service providers, brick and mortar and e-commerce retailers, financial institutions, health care providers, health information technology vendors and consumer products manufacturers with US and international privacy, and data security breach response issues, including navigating international, federal and state privacy and data protection laws. Matthew also counsels clients on global product launches, product, website and mobile app reviews, online content regulation and liability, and other areas of regulatory compliance. Matthew has been recognized by Best Lawyers: Ones to Watch in Technology Law for 2021 and 2022. Matthew attended Washington University in St. Louis, School of Law.

Cynthia M. Conner is a Consulting Managing Editor for the American Health Law Association. She worked for 15 years as AHLA's Vice President of Publishing, and prior to that, for Wolters Kluwer as Director of the Health Law Center. Over the course of her career, Cynthia developed, authored, and edited over 60 health law titles, and currently serves as the Managing Editor of the Health Care Compliance Professional's Manual.

Ritu Kaur Cooper is a Shareholder at Hall Render Killian Heath & Lyman PC in Washington, DC. Hall Render is the largest health care-focused law firm in the country. Ritu is the co-chair of the firm's Compliance Service Line. Her work focuses on representing health care providers such as hospitals and health systems, large physician practice groups as well as medical device companies and other health care organizations in regulatory and compliance matters. Her particular area of focus is on fraud and abuse, compliance, internal and government investigations, voluntary disclosures, and management of Corporate Integrity Agreement requirements. Ritu serves as Chair of the American Health Law Association's (AHLA's) Hospitals and Health Systems Practice Group after holding the following positions: Vice Chair of Research and Website, Vice Chair of Strategic Initiatives, and Vice Chair-Educational Programming. She is currently a member of the Editorial Board for the Health Care Compliance Professional's Manual and was a member of AHLA's Nominating Committee for 2020–21. Ritu is a past president of the South Asian Bar Association of Washington, DC and an active member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. Ritu frequently writes and lectures on compliance and the health care fraud and abuse laws. She has been recognized by Lawyers of Color and Washington DC's Super Lawyers. Ritu is an honors graduate from The George Washington University (BA), a cum laude graduate from Syracuse University (JD), and was awarded an LLM in Health Law by Saint Louis University. Ritu loves cooking, traveling, and spending time with her husband and three children.

Geoff Drucker is the Senior Director of the American Health Law Association's Dispute Resolution Service in Washington, DC. He is also a practicing arbitrator and mediator, an adjunct professor at the George Washington University School of Law, and the author of Resolving 21st Century Disputes: Best Practices for a Fast-Paced World (Prospecta Press 2012). Geoff received a B.A. with distinction from Stanford University in 1982, a JD from the UCLA School of Law in 1985, and an MS in Conflict Analysis and Resolution from George Mason University in 1997.

Douglas S. Eingurt is a Partner at BakerHostetler in Atlanta, Georgia. His work focuses on middle market mergers & acquisitions transactions and general corporate representation across a broad spectrum of industries, including the health care industry. He has been recognized by the M&A Advisor as an Emerging Leader. Doug attended Syracuse University for his undergraduate work and graduated with honors from Emory University School of Law.

Alex Foster is a senior associate at Arnall Golden Gregory LLP in Atlanta, Georgia. His work focuses on providing transactional and regulatory counseling for a variety of clients in the health care and life sciences industry, including health systems, nursing homes, hospitals, ambulatory surgery centers, assisted living facilities, hospices, physician groups, and other health care providers. Alex also represents domestic and foreign private equity investors in health care, REITs and other investors in health care real estate, developers of health care facilities, management companies, and lenders. He has been recognized by Best Lawyers in its “Ones to Watch” listing. Alex attended the University of Georgia and the University of Virginia School of Law.

---

About the Authors

Sarah Hogan is a partner at Wilmer Cutler Pickering Hale and Dorr LLP in Boston, Massachusetts. Her work focuses on advising companies in the life sciences and digital health industries in connection with structuring and negotiating intellectual property licenses, strategic collaborations, and other complex commercial transactions. Her clients include startups, venture capital and private equity-backed entities, privately held businesses, hospitals, nonprofit research organizations, and large public companies. She was recognized as a life sciences “star” in the 2020 edition of LMG Life Sciences and was also selected by her peers as one of the Best Lawyers in America® in the area of Health Care Law. Sarah attended Northeastern University School of Law where she earned her JD; University of New Hampshire where she earned an MS in Genetics; and Worcester Polytechnic Institute where she earned a BS in Biotechnology. Drawing on her scientific background and over 15 years in private practice, Sarah delivers practical solutions that lay the groundwork for successful, productive collaborations.

Lindsay P. Holmes is a Corporate Counsel at Amazon.com, Inc. in Arlington, Virginia. Her work focuses on pharmacy and FDA-related matters. She has been recognized by Chambers and Partners as an Associate to Watch in Health Care: Pharmaceutical/Medical Products Regulatory, Washington, DC. Lindsay attended the University of Miami School of Law, cum laude and received her LLM in Law & Government with a specialization in health law and policy from American University, Washington College of Law.

David Kopans is an Of Counsel at Jones Day in Columbus, Ohio. His work focuses on advising health insurance and health care clients on managed care and other regulatory and transactional matters, and advising clients in the health care and life sciences industries on a variety of matters related to health information privacy and security compliance under state and federal laws (including the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996). David’s clients include health care providers, insurers and other payers, life sciences companies, and digital health and telehealth companies offering mobile applications, online solutions, and data analytics. David attended Villanova University School of Law (JD 2008, cum laude), The Ohio State University (MA 2004) and Bowling Green State University (BA 2002, summa cum laude).

Robin L. Larmer is the Vice President of Legal Affairs and Chief Compliance Officer at Northwest Kidney Centers in the Seattle, WA area. Her work focuses on health plan and health care facility licensure and accreditation, regulatory compliance, health information privacy and security, physician and facility contracting, and mergers and acquisitions. Robin earned Bachelor’s and Master’s degrees from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and a JD, magna cum laude, from the University of Minnesota Law School, where she was elected to the Order of the Coif. Robin serves as a volunteer Director on the board of a local nonprofit organization dedicated to improving access to specialty health care for low income and uninsured members of the community.

Michael L. Lawhead is a partner at BakerHostetler in Los Angeles, California. His work focuses on public and private equity and debt offerings, representing issuers, underwriters, placement agents and investment funds in myriad industries, including life sciences and health care. Michael also represents public and private companies, for which he serves as outside general counsel, in general corporate and securities matters, including SEC reporting and compliance, Nasdaq and NYSE listing and compliance, corporate governance, investor relations and executive compensation. Michael received a BA in Political Science from the University of California, Los Angeles, and a JD, cum laude, from Washington and Lee University School of Law.

Rachel Ludwig is an Associate at DLA Piper LLP (US) in Washington, DC. Her work focuses on counseling health care clients on a variety of regulatory, compliance, and transactional matters, including digital health regulatory and strategic matters, structuring and implementing telehealth networks, fraud and abuse, health information privacy and security, corporate structure and governance issues, billing and reimbursement, and licensing and accreditation of health care providers and suppliers. She guides clients through strategic health care transactions and provides counseling on regulatory requirements and risks related to mergers and acquisitions and private equity investment. Rachel attended the Ohio State University Moritz College of Law for law school and University of Maryland—College Park for undergraduate studies.

Stanford L. Moore is an Associate at BakerHostetler in Atlanta, Georgia. He concentrates his practice on health care law, focusing primarily on the regulatory compliance of health care organizations and state Certificate of Need laws. Stanford received his JD, cum laude, from Case Western Reserve University School of Law, and his BS, cum laude, from Georgia State University.

---

About the Authors

Megan C. Phillips is a Senior Counsel at Husch Blackwell LLP in Omaha, Nebraska. She routinely assists large health care systems, adult and children's hospitals, and physician practices with health care contracting and advises on compliance issues related to the Stark Law, Anti-Kickback Statute, False Claims Act, and state laws. She also has extensive experience in interpreting Medicare and various state Medicaid coverage and reimbursement provisions. Megan attended Washington University in St. Louis School of Law and was a member of the Order of the Coif.

Cynthia Y. Reisz is a Member at Bass Berry & Sims PLC and practices in their Nashville, Tennessee office. Her extensive knowledge of the health care industry and its regulatory framework allows her to structure complex deals, such as joint ventures, acquisitions and de novo development of facilities and health care services that comply with federal and state health care laws. Cindy utilizes her vast experience in both the health care and corporate sectors to advise providers in all health care industry sectors as well as private equity funds and the portfolio companies in which they invest. With this background, she is able to lead health care companies in critical business decisions and operational issues, while providing invaluable guidance when navigating health care regulations. She works primarily with acute care and behavioral health systems, physician practice management companies and population health management organizations, among others. She has been recognized by Chambers USA (2007–2021), Best Lawyers—Nashville Mergers and Acquisitions Law “Lawyer of the Year” (2020), and The Best Lawyers in America—Corporate Law; Health Care Law; Mergers and Acquisitions Law (2006–2021) for her work in the health care industry. Cindy earned her law degree from Vanderbilt Law School. Cindy is active nationally in the health care industry, and is the President of the Board of Directors of the American Health Law Association.

Angelique M. Salib is an Associate at Bass Berry & Sims PLC in their Washington, DC office. She provides health care regulatory counsel as it relates to compliance, operational and transactional matters through applicable components of the Stark Law, Anti-Kickback Statute, Medicare reimbursement, managed care, in addition to clinical research and life sciences matters. She also works with hospital and health system clients on contractual arrangements, corporate governance and a broad range of compliance matters. Angelique earned her law degree from The University of Chicago Law School where she also earned a Graduate Program in Health Administration and Policy (GPHAP) Certificate and was awarded the Erikson Fellowship for her work at a Chicago-area hospital. Angelique is a member of the American Health Law Association and served on the Hospitals and Health Systems practice group in the Leadership Development Program from 2020–2021.

Susan O. Scheutzow is Of Counsel at Kohrman Jackson & Krantz PLL in Cleveland, Ohio. Susan is known as one of Ohio's leading health care attorneys and is the author of the book “Ohio Health Care Provider Law,” which has been relied upon in health care law across the state for more than 20 years. As Of Counsel, Susan works with clients on regulatory and compliance matters, medical staff and licensing issues, contract negotiations, litigation, and general corporate law. Susan also serves as General Counsel for Southwest General Hospital. Susan's contributions to the field of health care law across her 35-year legal career have been recognized locally and nationally. She is a current fellow and former board member of the American Health Law Association, was honored with the Distinguished Women in Healthcare award from the Visiting Nurse Association and is often called upon to speak on health care law topics and contribute to such publications as the Journal of Health & Life Sciences Law. She is an attorney equally respected among medical staffs and health care executives.

Gregory A. Tanner is an associate at BakerHostetler in Atlanta, Georgia. His work focuses on assisting health care providers with federal and state compliance matters, including fraud and abuse issues, government and commercial payor audits, government investigations, and compliance program development and review. Greg attended the University of Georgia for undergrad, and earned both his law degree and a Master of Science in Health Administration from Georgia State University.

Cori Casey Turner is a Partner at Husch Blackwell LLP in Kansas City, Missouri. She represents various types of health care providers with a special focus on academic medical centers, children's hospitals and pediatric providers. She routinely counsels her clients on complex contracting, regulatory compliance, and strategic affiliation matters. Cori has been recognized by Missouri Lawyers Weekly as an Up & Coming Attorney and was a multi-year Missouri & Kansas Super Lawyer Rising Star in Health Care. Additionally, she is currently included in Best Lawyers in America for her work in Health Care. Cori is the Chair of the AHLA Women's Leadership Council and a member of AHLA's Young Professional Delegate Alumni. Cori attended The University of Iowa School of Law in Iowa City, Iowa with distinction and was a University of Iowa College of Law Merit Scholar.

Jennifer Whitton is an Associate at BakerHostetler in Atlanta, Georgia. Her work focuses on health care law, advising institutional health care clients in regulatory and compliance matters and structuring complex transactions involving acquisitions, joint ventures and other strategic affiliations. Jennifer attended Georgia State University College of Law, summa cum laude.